The Department of Health Care Services (DHCS) and the California Department of Social Services (CDSS) announce the release of "The California Guidelines for the Use of Psychotropic Medication with Children and Youth in Foster Care". This inter-departmental effort has produced a guide to best practices for the treatment of mental health conditions affecting children and youth in out-ofhome care. TOO many 66666

While these guidelines are not codified mandates for providers of mental health and/or social services, they have been developed for use in conjunction with existing mandatory State regulations related to the provision of Medi-Cal funded mental health services and community care licensing (CCL) regulations related to foster homes, group homes, and residential treatment centers. The Guidelines outline: Basic principles and values;

- Expectations regarding the development and monitoring of treatment plans; the principles for emotional and behavioral health care, psychosocial services, and non- pharmacological treatments;
- Principles for informed consent to medications; and Principles governing medication safety.

It is expected that the Guidelines will evolve over time in response to updated research and the evolution of best practices, and in response to feedback from youth, families, prescribers, other providers, and additional community stakeholders. For these reasons, these quidelines will be reviewed annually.

CASA helps to provide information to our Juvenile Judges by using trained community volunteers to investigate the background of a foster care case and make recommendations to the Judge that will best help to move the child to permanency as quickly as possible. Whether the plan is reunification with the parents, placement with relatives/kin or adoption, a CASA volunteer remains diligently focused on the child's need for permanency until the goal is accomplished. CASA volunteers come from all walks of life and all kinds of educational, ethnic and social backgrounds. Most work full time and no special prior experience is required. Objectivity and good communication skills are essential since a CASA volunteer must be able to work with a variety of people
